

An adaptation of the classic ps1 game by MrGoatfarmer.

Chapter 1 The Beginnings of Gale

It's strange...

Sometimes I can't remember my dreams, though I'm sure I saw them. Where do these dreams go? But I remember one dream. As clearly as if it were reflected in a mirror...

Phantomile is a world, someplace far, far away. There is an old legend in Phantomile. It says that the energy from people's dreams is gathered in the mythical Moon Kingdom and used to give shape to the world. The legend says that this is the reason why we can't remember dreams we know we've had. Klonoa, who lived in the wind village Breezegale, was awakened one day by a horrible nightmare vision of a flying ship crashing on Bell Hill, and a dark, ominous shadow closing in overhead. Mysteriously, Klonoa could remember this dream clearly even as time passed. And then one day it happened. A flying ship really crashed on Bell Hill. He and Huepow, the Ring Spirit, looked out of their bedroom window at their house. Huepow had been Klonoa's trusty friend since childhood. They first met when Klonoa found a mysterious ring one day in a forest. He pulled the ring out of the ground and out popped Huepow. He is a spirit who lives inside a ring, he normally stays inside the ring but does come out to talk. Anyways, back to the present. "Wha...What's that?" He spoke. "It's from Bell Hill." Huepow said "Sounds like something crashed. It's just like my dream..." He said as a moment of fear was overcome by his overwhelming curiosity. "Let's go, Klonoa." cried Huepow.

And so, after closing their window, they went off with their hearts pounding with excitement, Klonoa and Huepow ran outside to see what awaited them. They ran all the way out into a dark blue tower on top of a mountain. When Klonoa went inside, he heard someone say "Halt, who goes there!?" He was quite confused as to where the sound was coming from. "Here, up here!!!" He looked up at the exposed roof of the tower, there at the top of one of the pillars was some sort of old man. "How dare you go through my tower without even saying hello! Hold it right there!" Then, he jumped down to Klonoa, on his feet no less! The landing made the ground shock hard enough for him to jump into the air.

"Hey, kid! You shouldn't come sneaking around here!!" Our lead approached the stranger. "Oops...I'm sorry..." "Hm, apology accepted. I'm Baloo, the mason. So, have you looked at my beautiful lephise outside? It's my masterpiece." "lephise?" Klonoa said curiously. "Don't know her, eh? She's the legendary diva who sings the 'Song of Rebirth.'" "Nope, I didn't know that." "Kids these days..." Baloo sighed. "You see this tower here...I'm building it so that I can reach the moon kingdom. You see, that's where lephise lives." "Oh" Klonoa said. "I wonder if it's really possible to reach the moon kingdom with this..." Huepow wondered. "Silence!!!" Baloo shouted "Yipe..." "Klonoa, I think that we should get going..." "Oh, ok." Klonoa said to his blue spheroid friend, he looks at Baloo. "Um, we're gotta go..." "I see. Well, take care." The man said. "I will. Thanks! So long!" "Good luck, Baloo!" Huepow said before disappearing to Klonoa's ring. "Thanks." And with a "Hrrmph." Baloo jumped into the sky to continue work on his tower. Our main lead went on his way to the Gunston mine.

After making his way through the dark mines and traversing a bit of the mine's rail car system. Klonoa made it to bell hill and made a shocking discovery. Actually, it was Huepow that told him about something that was going on above them. "Yes, it's lephise for sure...well done, Joka." Said a mysterious voice. "I'm honored, Ghadius, your darkness." "Lephise!?" Klonoa wondered. "It's the diva we heard about!" Cried Huepow. "A diva...heh, heh, heh, heh... I can't allow you to save the world with your silly "Song of Rebirth'." Ghadius stated. "There is no need for rebirth. I shall imprison you in darkness and destroy the world." He then laughs. "Heh, heh, heh..." Laughed Joka. "Well now, my Joka. Where's that pendent?" "Sire!" He said before looking through the diva's belongings. "Hmmm...this is strange... I can't find it..." "...What?" "What are they looking for?" Klonoa said to Huepow. "They said a pendent..." "Who are they?" "...Hmm?" Ghadius notices our two main leads. "Ah, mice...very well." He whispered.

"Lephise is in our hands. Joka, I'm counting on you to take care of the rest." "Yes, Sire!" Joka said to his boss. "What are they up to?" Klonoa said before Ghadius made the Lephise levitate upwards before revealing his inner cloak and made the diva disappeared. He then flies off until he disappeared. "Come out, come out, leeeetle micey!" Joka said. "I guess we have no choice." Huepow said. Klonoa jumped up to the upper level. "Tsk, tsk. I see that we have little puny mice here. Well, I'll have to deal with you." "Who are you!?" Klonoa question the mysterious jester. "Oh my. Kids these days don't have manners. Too bad. I'm gonna have to punish you now." Joka said before jumping up into the air and landing on the giant bell a few feet away. Suddenly, he made a beast appear out of nowhere in front of Klonoa. "It's show time!!" He looks at the beast. "Oh, my dear longo rango...watch your behind!" And with that, Klonoa's first battle in his adventure began. Longo Rango started to attack Klonoa. But while quickly avoiding him, he remembered something important. Now there is something that I didn't tell you about Huepow and the ring. The ring can help Klonoa use the power of the wind by picking up objects or enemies by firing a wind bullet from Klonoa's ring. When this is done next to an enemy, Klonoa can grab and inflate it. He can throw it at something, in this case, Longo's back with a cute creature known as a Moo. That seemed to do the trick as Longo took some damage. So, he hit the beast again with another Moo while staying a little distance away from Longo's jumping. After that, the creature started to spin in place and unleashes a Rainbow Ring, Klonoa jumped over the rings. Once that's done, He hint Longo with another Moo. For the last bit, the boss uses a sort of Shockwave attack. Luckily, he jumps over it. After one last Moo throw, he destroys Rongo Lango. Joka is shocked by the sight. "Eeeeeeeek! Ju...just you wait!!" "He jumps off of the giant bell to make a quick getaway. "I won't forgot this!"

"Hey, something fell." Huepow pointed out. "A pendant?" They both rushed to it. "Lephise and the moon shaped pendant. Let's ask grandpa about this!" Huepow said. "Ok." Back at their home, they showed the pendant to their grandpa. "Ahh...Klonoa, you're really done it this time!" Grandpa said. "What have I done?" "That is a crest of the moon kingdom." "The moon kingdom?" He questioned. "Uh-huh. It's the mystical kingdom that they speak of in legends." "Klonoa, what about the guy in that tower?" Huepow whisper in his friend's ear. "That's right!" He responded. "Hey, Granpa. is there really a Moon Kingdom?" "Hmmm..." He pondered as his rocking chair stopped. "Perhaps there is, but then again maybe not... Well, I'm worried about that Ghadius character who kidnapped the girl. Ethier way, we need to take matters into our own hands now." "Klonoa," He continued. "tell Forlock forest's granny about this." "Okay, I'm on my way." He then walks outside to start his quest to Forlock forest. When he leaves, Grandpa pondered about the legend. “The Moon Kingdom, hmmm...”